TASTE OF NAVY TRADES
9.30am – 3.00pm, Monday 15th September 2014
Queensland Maritime Museum Southbank

The Specialist Recruiting Team – Women In the Navy – is offering an exclusive tour for females interested in a technical trade career in the Navy to see first-hand some of the systems that are used to operate a Navy ship. Learn about the unique traditions of the Australian Navy as well as having the opportunity to try your hand at some of the trade skills that are used to keep a Navy ship at sea. This activity will give young females the opportunity to meet and talk with sailors from the Royal Australian Navy about their time in the Navy and the great opportunities available in technical trades.

Morning tea and lunch are provided.

RSVP: wid@dfc.com.au by Monday 8th September
2. Orthoptics Course
University of Technology Sydney

Associate Professor Kathryn Rose an adviser on the development of a new orthoptics program at UTS said early identification of some eye conditions meant far worse problems could often be avoided or reduced in impact as we age. Such early diagnosis she said are now being made in a number of health-care settings in Australia, including The Children’s Hospital at Westmead - with immediate benefits to clinicians and patients alike.

“Conditions such as strabismus (squint) and amblyopia (lazy eye) often associated with childhood have in the past lead to far worse problems in old age,” Professor Rose said. “These and some less obvious and potentially more harmful conditions are now being identified earlier, enabling better treatment.

“A small number of hospitals and clinics in Australia now employ orthoptists to provide triage or initial diagnosis of symptoms caused by a range of eye complaints in children and older patients. It has had an immediate benefit – The Children’s Hospital at Westmead’s wait times are decreasing and priority cases are being seen far more quickly.”

Although most Australians are unfamiliar with orthoptics as a profession, practitioners are a vital force zeroing in on eye conditions sometimes missed in the very young. However, according to the Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Ophthalmologists only approximately 500 orthoptists currently work in Australia and their ranks are ageing.

“UTS is ready to help swell these ranks,” Professor Rose said. “There is a great opportunity for young people aspiring to a career in an allied health field to get a great education and great jobs. The new UTS graduate entry program that does not require a health or science education background commences student intake in February 2015.

“Australia is the only country in the Asia Pacific region offering orthoptics education and UTS is now one of two Australian universities with graduate programs in this field. UTS will produce graduates in orthoptists who not only go to parts of Australia where they are vitally needed, but also Asia and the Middle East.”

People who are interested in knowing more about the new orthoptics program being offered by the UTS Graduate School of Health from 2015 can visit the web page or email orthoptics@uts.edu.au

4. Australiasian Rail Industry
Career Paths Available

Rail is a strong industry with a prosperous future, however it is not always top of mind for those searching for a career. With forecasted industry expansion, attracting a suitable pipeline of skilled and talented employees to meet future demand is essential. With your help, we aim to connect with the next generation of employees through Rail Careers Week and promote Rail’s many advantages. Whether potential candidates are leaving school, changing careers or returning to the workforce, the rail industry seeks to attract applicants who are able to bring a variety of skills and attributes which will not only offer them a fulfilling career but will add value to rail across the Australasian region.

Although Rail is a major national industry, employing more than 110,000 people in a wide range of occupations, disciplines and professions, not many candidates consider rail when they are searching for a career. With more than 180 rail organisations located all across Australia and New Zealand, the industry provides a wide range of employers comprising private and public operators, passenger operators, freight operators, track owners and managers, manufacturers and suppliers operating in urban, regional, and rural areas of Australia.

Each person working in Rail plays a vital role in providing quality customer service, designing, building and maintaining new trains and infrastructure. They are working to ensure efficient and safe railways for the future. Further information on Rail Careers Week, along with more rail stories and a list of all the rail industry activities throughout the Week can be found at http://railcareers.net.au/rail-careers-week/.

Aviation Presentation at GSLC

Former US Special Operations aviator and now CQUniversity’s Aviation Head of Program, Ron Bishop, will be visiting Good Shepherd Lutheran College on Tuesday, 14th October at 3:15pm (Term 4, week 2), in the THEATRETTE to discuss with students, parents and faculty the ins and outs of tertiary education, the suite of aviation programs available at CQUniversity and sharing insights into a career in the aviation industry.

Previous students have loved this experience and the chance to dress up in Air Force suits and helmets. Ron’s use of flight simulators has also been a huge hit, bringing this study area to life.

Hear about Ron’s extraordinary personal experiences (like meeting the US President), information on career opportunities and learn about CQUniversity’s suite of Aviation degrees available to start studying at school now via the SUN (Start Uni Now) program available both on campus and via distance education.

Ron will also be joined by current CQUniversity Aviation students, so you will hear about the experiences of studying our Aviation programs first hand.

For further information on CQUniversity, please visit www.cqu.edu.au

Please register your intentions to attend this event no later than Thursday 9 October by emailing the Career Guidance Counsellor, Mr Handreck, handreckg@gslc.qld.edu.au

Study TAFE while still at school in Year 11 & 12 – News Update

Fast track your career with a TAFE Queensland East Coast Schools Program. With a TAFE East Coast Schools Program you typically attend school four days per week and TAFE one day per week.

What are the benefits?

- By studying TAFE at school you can:
- Gain valuable credit points towards the Queensland Certificate of Education (QCE) AND complete a certificate I or certificate II while still at school.
- Receive direct entry into certain TAFE Queensland programs upon successful completion of high school.
- Gain credits for further study in a certificate or diploma program
- Learn from qualified trainers with current industry knowledge (they know their stuff).
- Gain real employment skills relevant to the workplace
Gain a competitive advantage
Gain real employment skills relevant to the workplace with industry based training taught by industry-connected teachers. The skills and experience you will develop will allow you to move straight into the workforce or onto further study. It is a great opportunity to try an industry and become familiar with life on campus

How much does it cost?
A range of Schools Program qualifications are fee-free for students and covered under VET in Schools (VETiS) funding. In cases where a small fee applies, schools will pay a co-contribution fee towards the student's training. Please ensure you research your decision in choosing the most suitable qualification to study as students are only entitled to receive one qualification funded by VETiS.
Some qualifications are not VETiS funded and have associated fees to cover the cost of training. The course information listed on this website includes the cost of the course.
*students who at 30 June 2014 have already completed or commenced one or more funded positions will be eligible for one additional enrolment after 30 June 2014.
More information about VETiS funding is available under the Vocational education and training in schools (VETiS) section of the Training website (http://training.qld.gov.au/training-organisations/funded-programs/vetis.html).

How do I apply?
To nominate for participation in a VET in Schools program, please contact your school's VET Coordinator. You need to identify the program in your Senior Education and Training (SET) Plan through your school.

What courses can I study?
You have the choice of a wide range of courses from tourism, hospitality, horticulture, hairdressing, automotive, construction, tourism and more.
VETiS funded programs are fee free for students. In cases where a small fee applies, schools will pay a co-contribution fee towards the student's training.
